Contemporary Indian Architecture.

Independence in 1947 brought forth a bewildering range of problems, opportunities, expectations and dreams. The partition of the country caused a refugee problem that involved millions of families. All eyes were on a newly formed people and its leaders as the nation settled down to doing what had to be done to set the wheels of development in motion.

Modern Indian Architecture. Immediately after the independence of India, the Modernism swept through the new buildings constructed to meet the new needs such as for schools, government buildings, housing for the poor, urban renewal, and new capital cities of various states. Collaboration with internationally renowned architects created distinctive design innovations that blended modernist and Indian style.
