Transnational policing, one of the most significant recent developments in the security field, has brought about a number of changes in the organisation of criminal law enforcement in the Caribbean and other parts of the world. Drawing on interviews with chief police officers, customs, coastguard, immigration, security, military, and government officials, this book examines these changes, providing a unique insight into the work of overseas liaison officers from the UK and the USA, and their ...

In many parts of the world, defence forces, established to provide military force against foreign invasion and to provide aid to the civil power in times of unrest or civil emergency, are now working largely to a law enforcement agenda. In the Caribbean, for example, the army and hybrid military/policing agencies support the police on land, while the coastguard has extensive involvement in armed policing of territorial waters (Bowling, 2010). Border protection agencies including Customs ...
