Speaking of Faith began as an occasional feature in 2000 before taking on its current form as a weekly program in 2003. Tippett was convinced that traditional journalistic approaches did not make room for the intellectual and spiritual content of religious perspectives that interested her: \"We have had few models in our public life for religious speech that does not proselytize, exclude, anger, or offend.\"

Speaking of Faith is densely populated with Tippett's conversation partners: these "others" speak. However, in the book, her own voice surfaces as well, welcoming us to ponder her religious upbringing, her early careers in diplomacy and journalism, and the sometimes thorny path that eventually led her to a mature spirituality that persists in asking the hardest questions.
